PROPOSALS

BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,

for publishing by subscription,

BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS

TO THE

eclaration of Independence,

ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES;

which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the pas- sage of the law, and the Declaration it- self, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.

TO THE PUBLIC.

T seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been present- for American Biography, the lives of ose who have affixed their signatures to e Declaration of Independence have been erlooked or disregarded. The eyes of ousands have dwelt with rapture upon the cument that announced to the world that these United Colonies were, and of right ght to be, free, sovereign, and indepen- nt states;" while we are better acquaint- with the handwriting than with the cha- cters of many of those illustrious men ho have added their signatures to that in- rument. The founders of the only re- aining republic on the globe, have, with few splendid exceptions, gone to their aves, and it behoves a generous posterity, nsible of their obligations, to preserve eir fame. The longer we neglect the ayment of so sacred a debt, the more diffi- lt does the payment become.—Traits of ndividual character are fugitive and eva- escent; and if they are not snatched by e hand of the Biographic Muse, at an ear- season, from the cold grasp of death, will on partake of the oblivion of the body.— is not the object of the present attempt, deal in that profusion of indiscriminate nd unsparing panegyric, so often and so lsely dignified with the name of Biogra- hy: we wish to represent the characters they were; they stand in need of no pa- gyric; and we earnestly solicit from the rviving relations and friends of those re- olutionary patriots all the information that ill tend to a developement of character. an is the creature of circumstance, and e wish to show the progress of those pa- iots from their first resistance of colonial ression, until they stood forth the noble d undaunted champions of their country's dependence. All this can only be done a familiar acquaintance with the lives of ese men, and whoever of the surviving ends or relatives will furnish facts and rcumstances in their possession to unfold d illustrate their characters, shall be en- led to a copy of the work as a recom- nse. It is contemplated, wherever it is acticable, further to embellish the medi- ted work with correct likenesses of the bjects of our biography, executed by the ost eminent artists in the country. For is purpose we again solicit the assistance their surviving relatives and friends. If ey will transmit to the publisher any en- aving or portrait from which a copy may taken, the original shall be faithfully re- rned, and shall likewise be remunerated ith a copy of the work. In the first num- r it is proposed to give an account of the eclaration of Independence, from the first otion that was made on the floor of con- ess until its final passage into a law, a pe- od embracing much curious and secret story: finally, we promise to add to our st number the Declaration of Indepen- nce itself, with fac-simile engravings of e signatures. We have now compendi- sly stated the objects of our present un- rtaking, and we hope that it will be un- cessary to mention that no exertions on r part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our oject, which does indeed seem to be de- anded, by the avidity so recently display- for the possession of the Declaration of dependence, since it is of very little im- rt to become acquainted with a man's nd writing without a previous knowledge the man. The secret history of our De- aration of Independence, the lives of those o have affixed their signatures to that in- ument, accompanied by their likenesses, d finally the Declaration itself with fac- niles of the signatures, will bring into one mpact view the prominent facts of that eresting crisis.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in num- rs, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, d will be contained in ten numbers.

II. It will be printed on fine paper made pressly for the purpose, and delivered to bscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per f volume or number, payable on deliv- .

EXCHANGE BANKING HOUSE,

AND

BROKER'S OFFICE,

Bridge-street, Georgetown.

THIS is intended as a permanent establishment, and the community will find it one of the greatest conveniences in the United States, and of great public utility. At this house the fair exchange on the different bank notes from every part of the union can at all times be had: It is to be hoped that, by the operations of this office, the community will get rid of a host of Shinocks, Shavers, Secret and Running Brokers, who infest the District, frequently proclaiming the failure of country solvent banks, for the express purpose of purchasing the notes of such institutions at great discounts. Business under the following heads will be transacted. This establishment possesses funds to negotiate for any amount, and all business done for cash.

1st. All bank checks, bills at sight, post notes not due, and bank notes from all parts of the United States, bought and sold.

2d. All notes, bills of exchange, dividends and interests, collected and remitted according to orders.

3d. The notes of the United States' bank and all of its branches received at par.

4th. Strangers, citizens, and others, may deposit current money for safe keeping—and if left for thirty days, or longer, will receive at the rate of six per cent. per annum for the same.

5th. All business in the line of a money broker promptly attended to for a small commission.

6th. All southern and western traders, bringing to the district large sums of southern and western bank notes, can deposit for safe keeping, and draw for the same as may suit their convenience.

7th. Prompt attention paid to the orders of all respectable brokers and exchange offices throughout the United States—who will please to favor me occasionally with their rates of exchange on bank notes and bills.

Gone to the Southward or Westward,

A YELLOW WOMAN, called Celia Detcher, in the 23d year of her age, about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high—marks like moles on the right side of her face, which, with several letters on her left arm, were made with india ink. She is about four months gone in a state of pregnancy—followed her husband, Jim Clark, a yellow man, who was purchased from this place and taken away in company with a large number of slaves, about two week ago, by a man of the name of Basset. It is supposed they have gone to the westward: Celia was born free, and had with her a notarial certificate of her freedom, and description of her person. Her mother, the subscriber, is much afflicted by her manner of going away, and desires that any humane people who may chance to meet with her, will persuade her to return, being apprehensive that when she gets into a strange country, where she will be unknown and out of the reach of her friends and those who would be likely to protect her, attempts may be made by some avaricious and unprincipled persons, to deprive her of her liberty, and sell her for a slave. Should any such attempts be made, fifty dollars reward will be paid to any person who will communicate such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offenders, and the recovery of the woman.

HANNAH DETCHER.

Alexandria, October 6, 1818.

To the Public.

AN unusual sensibility has been excited in the minds of our countrymen by the copper plate engraving of the Declaration of Independence recently published, accompanied by fac similes of the signatures of those illustrious patriots who framed the document by which our independence was announced to the world. We feel, while we dwell on those signatures, as if we were ushered into the immediate presence of characters so exalted, and we seem for a time to participate in all the emotion which they felt on the approach of so awful a crisis—Hostile armies, desolate fields, towns and cities in conflagration—carnage and death in its most frightful forms apeared in prophetic vision on the one hand, and more than all, the complicated horrors, ignominy and slavery were presented for their acceptance on the other; they deliberated, they paused, they trembled, and at last solemnly appealing to the God of battles, they resolved that the United States were and ought to be free, sovereign and independent. These illustrious patriots, with five solitary exceptions, have now mingled with the common mould—they survive only in their country's glory and in the recollection of a grateful people. But it would be consoling to the present generation, separated as they now are from those patriots, by the intervention of the tomb, to become more intimately acquainted with their revolutionary benefactors. We love to dwell on the features of such men, snatched by the pencil from the oblivion of the grave, and emulate the prominent feats of their biography. Impressed with these ideas, the subscriber proposes, if suitable encouragement is given, to publish the lives of those patriots in numbers, until the whole is completed. The work will be executed in a style not inferior to any European productions, and the portraits by masters of acknowledged merit. The biography will be written by Paul Allen, esq. whose intimacy with the several signers, whose familiarity with the privations and hardships they had to undergo, and whose well known talents will be sufficient to ensure the patronage of an enlightened people. In the execution of this work, all that the publisher dares to promise is, that he will endeavor to deserve the confidence of his countrymen, and that no exertion on his part will be wanting to prevent an abuse of that confidence. He ventures to solicit the assistance of those gentlemen in possession of authentic facts and anecdotes, by communicating the intelligence that will serve to illustrate the characters and to enrich the biography of those founders of the American Republic.—Those who are in possession of their portraits would enlarge the obligation by a loan of the same.

A prospectus with the terms will be given in a few days.

Laws of the District of Columbia.

In the press, and will shortly be published,

By DAVIS & FORCE,

IN THE CITY OF WASHINGTON,

"A COMPLETE CODE OF LAWS

With a copious Index, prepared and reported by the Hon. chief justice CRANCH, to the congress of the United States, for their sanction; agreeably to the provisions of the act of the 29th April, 1816, entitled, "an act authorising the judges of the circuit court and the attorney for the District of Columbia, to prepare a code of jurisprudence for the said District."

The laws by which this District is now governed, can only be found by a reference to the numerous volumes containing those of the United States, of the states of Virginia and Maryland, and of England—therefore the acquisition of this code (which will comprise the whole in one volume,) must be considered as of the first importance, by all magistrates, gentlemen of the bar, and citizens in general, who have, heretofore, experienced the necessity of a work of this description.

A few extra copies will be printed for such persons only as apply previous to the publication of the work.

☞Gentlemen who wish to be supplied, will please to leave their names at this office. Dec 5

The National Register

IS a paper which is published, every Saturday, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, and each number contains sixteen pages octavo, in small but very legible type. It makes two volumes in the year; and every volume is accompanied with a copious index. The price per annum is five dollars, payable in advance. The Public Documents, both foreign and domestic; the proceedings of Congress, and authentic news of every description, are regularly inserted therein, and accompanied by critical and explanatory remarks. Its value is also enhanced by occasional reviews of literary works; and all its sentiments are decidedly American, independent of all party considerations. For this work, which is well established, regularly published, and transmitted weekly to subscribers by the mail, the public patronage is respectfully solicited.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1819.

Savannah, Feb. 4.

VERY LATE FROM ENGLAND.

By the arrival last evening of the fine fast sailing ship Athens, captain Lee, in 37 days from Liverpool, the editor of the Savannah Republican has received Liverpool papers to the 24th December and London to the 25th of the same month.—He has also been politely furnished by several mercantile houses, with Liverpool papers and prices current to the 27th Dec. which will be found interesting to the commercial part of the community. We have made, as many extracts from the papers as time and our limits will permit.—They shall be continued to-morrow. On a hasty perusal of them, however, we find nothing very interesting.

The Paris papers state that Mr. Roy, member of the chamber of deputies, is appointed minister of finance, in the room of M. Corvette.

The Paris Moniteur mentions that there had been a great commotion at Lyons, alarming in its nature.

Lord Ellenborough, chief Justice of England, died on the 13th Dec.

The Courier says, there is no foundation for the reported changes in the ministry, with the exception of the retirement of Lord Mulgrave from the master generalship of the ordnance, which is to be filled by Lord Wellington.

A rumour was very prevalent in London that the king of Spain had absconded from Madrid. By letters received, it is stated that he had destroyed himself, and by others that he had been murdered. The Times observes, that the aspect of affairs in Spain, was such as made it but too probable some crisis was at hand. Certainly something serious has lately occurred in Spain.

The Paris papers of the 23d December says, the funds have declined to 64f.

Sir Philip Francis, the supposed author of Junius, departed this life on the 22d December last, in the 79th year of his age.—Papers and documents is said to have been found which conclusively prove that Sir Philip Francis was the author of Junius.

The London Courier is very loud against Mr. Monroe when commenting on his message to Congress. The case of Arbuthnot and Ambrister is adverted to; and many petty anathemas pronounced against the government. The Courier also indulges in the old slang of a division of the states—that we cannot remain long a federate union under our general government, (Alas! poor Ghost!)

Extract of a letter dated Liverpool, December 26, 1818

"We have to state that our cotton market remains in the same depressed condition as to prices, which has been the case some weeks. The demand however has in some degree revived, and the sales for the last two weeks amount to 14,390 bags: and the imports for the same period amount to 8,938 bags of all descriptions. In reviewing the prospect of any alteration, we have on the one hand to take into account the large stock at present held, with the expectation of heavy supplies from the E. Indies; which latter, and especially Surats, from their very low prices, tend to depreciate the price of Upland; and on the other hand, it is antipicated that the new crop from the states will be unusually late coming into the market, and will also prove very deficient in staple. Should this latter suppposition prove well founded, it may probably prove the means of increasing the value of the old cotton, although we apprehend no improvement in prices is likely to take place until some time after the new year sets in and business improves. The sales this week have been principally inferior to middling qualities—Upland 17 to 18d, a few at 20d, Orleans 17 a 19d.—Rice is very dull at the quotations. In tobacco the demand and sale is extensive, but at prices in exact conformity with the prices of last week. The French government having contracted for 6000 hogsheads, viz 1028 Va. 2147 Ky. and 1625 hhds of other descriptions, in all 4800 hhds of American growth and 1200 hhds European growth, has assisted the market.

Prices—Cotton, Uplands, 17 a 20d; Orleans, 17 a 21d; Sea Island, 3s 3d a 3s 9d—extra, 4s do stained, 1s 9d a 2s; rice, in bond, 34 a 36s: do duty paid, 45 a 47—tobacco, Kentucky and Georgia, leaf, 5½ a 8d; stemmed, 8 a 10d."

We are indebted to a friend, for the following important circular:

"Liverpool, 27th Dec. 1818.

Since our advices of the 12th inst. we have had more doing in our cotton market. On several days during the past week, very heavy sales took place, and the whole transactions together amounted to 8640 bags, without, however, producing any material alteration in the value of any kind, which shews the willingness of holders to meet the demand. The descriptions chiefly taken were Uplands, Orleans, Baha and Surat.

This week our inactivity has returned; the sales have been on a very moderate scale, and in consequence of the quantities of E. India on the market, a decline has taken place beyond the slight amendment of last week, being in uplands fully 6d per lb.

We hope, in a few days, to be able to lay before you an account of the stock of cottons in this kingdom. As far as our present information extends, it will be found about 300,000 bags, of which two-thirds is East-India. You will already have noticed the increased import this year from the Brazils, which is considerably above the average of the last eight years. But it is to the rapid increace of East-India descriptions that we must look, not only for the present depressed state of our market, but for the future effects. In the anticipation of this kind becoming the ruling one, new mills are erecting, adapted to the shortness of the staple, and it is generally believed, that its future consumption will be more commensurate with its import. Whether the losing state of our market will check our supplies for the next year from that quarter, it is impossible to conjecture.—Certain it is, that its increasing production must check the cultivation in other countries, and tend to keep the value of every other description within bounds, both at the place of growth and in the English market.

There has been this year very little increase in American cottons, and perhaps none in weight; and from an estimate of our present stock, it would appear, that notwithstanding the interruption to the consumption for more than three months during the summer, there has been as much used up this year as in any former one; and it is clear, that had it not been for the extraordinary supplies from other parts, we should ere this have experienced a scarcity and corresponding enhancement of price.

Excepting for Sea Islands, prices of all descriptions are lower than at the close of the last year. Early in this year it was ascertained that the crop of Sea Islands coming forward, would prove far short of that of 1816, and that speculations had consequently been entered into in Savannah and Charleston, on a very large scale These circumstances induced speculation here also, and by the middle of May, prices had advanced 1s per lb, but they then became stationary, and afterwards declined without an interruption to our present quotations. Uplands during the past year underwent few and trifling fluctuations, being mostly stationary, or drooping; and about the 20th ult. experienced their greatest depression. Nor have Orleans varied much through the year, but arrived about the same time at their lowest point. Both Uplands and Orleans have since risen about 1d per lb.—Tennessee, which usually ranked with inferior and middling Uplands, is now rated much lower, 2d to 2½d.

Prices Current—Cotton, Uplands, 1s 5d a 1s 7½d; do do new 1s 5d a 1s 7½d; Sea Islands, 2s 9d a 3s 1d; New-Orleans 1s 5½d a 1s 8½d; Tennessee, 1s 3d a 1s 4½d; tobacco, 0s 6d; tar, barrel, 16s 0d a 17s 0d; turpentine, cwt. 14s.0d; flour, sour, 34s.0d; rice, duty paid, 45s 0d a 47s 0d.

We are sir, your obedient servants,
RICHARDSON & BOLTON."

London, Dec. 14.

A Dutch mail arrived this morning. Its contents are extremely uninteresting.—Count Bernstoff, the Prussian minister for Foreign affairs, is, it is said, to proceed to Brussels, to resume the negociations for a cession of territory by the kingdom of the Netherlands in favor of Prussia.

City, half past one o'clock, December 17.

"It is reported here, that an entirely new arrangement has been found between the French government and Mr. Baring; the latter only takes one half of the new loan, the French government will negociate the remainder. This new arrangement, it is stated, is in consequence of the fall in the French stock."

December 25.

We have received this morning Bombay papers to so late a date as the 15th of last August; from which we have made some interesting extracts. Intelligence from Ceylon, to the 11th July, states, that there appeared to be a great relaxation in the hostile efforts of the rebels The whole tract of country from the S. E. extremity of Saffragam to the N. E. border of the Seven Kories, embracing about one half in extent, and much more in value, of the Kandyan territories, continued perfectly quiet. The most gratifying accounts, also, had been received from other parts of the island.

Some interesting particulars are furnished by these papers, respecting the proceedings of the Ex-Rajah of Nagpore. It appears, that, after his escape, he was enabled to collect a large body of malcontent who flocked to him from all quarters, and we regret to add, that, in an engagement with a part of his followers, by Captain Sparkes, at the head of a hundred men, the whole of the latter were destroyed. Capt. Sparkes had been unfortunately led to believe that only a few plunderers were to be attacked, instead of which there were 3000 of the enemy. When his gallant little troop was reduced to only 25, and capt S. himself wounded in two places, he wished to surrender, but his flag of truce was rejected, and it was feared he and all the party perished.

The governor general and suite were near Mongheer on the 11th July, and were expected to leave the great river in three or four days.—His lordship at that time, was enjoying excellent health, and his arrival at Calcutta was daily expected.

The cholera morbus had appeared at Panwell and it was feared would extend its ravages to Bombay. Throughout the whole of the Deakan it was on the decline.

The following is an extract of a private letter from Bombay, dated Aug. 8:—

We have seen letters from Sumbulpore of the 21st ult at which place, the detachment hoped to enjoy a rest after their toils.

"The letters describe the country, as abounding in gold dust; and the capital Alson (called Raigheer) is a large town, built on the Neloo Nunde, and surrounded by luxuriant topaz.

"The Rajah is supposed to be very wealthy.

"At one time the Killedar of this place entertained thoughts of resisting our approach: but afterwards changed his mind, and without firing a gun, gave it up to major Roughsedge.

"Diamonds are found in this country. Our letters represent the Mahrattas of this district as extremely civil."

Liverpool, December 23.

We are happy to find, that the magistrates at the dock Police Office are actively seconding the efforts of our worthy chief magistrate in the removing of vagrants from the town, by committing all the idle and disorderly people found about the dock drays and graving docks commonly called 'feesers.' We understand that above thirty of these people were committed on Monday.

Cadiz, Dec. 1.

The following is a list of the ships of war at present fitting out in this port for the American expedition: these forces are under the orders of brigadier Don Francis Maurelle, an able officer, who, to the experience and wisdom of his mature age, unites all the energy of youth:—

Ships of war of 74 guns each—The Ferdinand VII. the Northern Eagle, the Lubeck, and the Alexander. These four ships were of the number of those composing the squadron purchased of Russia.

Frigates—Three of 44 guns each; La Fruera, La Mercurio, and La Ligera—two of 36 guns each; La Pronta and La Vica; making in all five frigates, the four last of which were purchased of Russia.

Sloops of war—La Fama, of 24 guns, and the Dimond of 20 guns.

Brigantine—L'Hiena, of 16 guns.

This fleet is on the point of being augmented by some ships and brigs, and 24 gun boats. The light forces will be commanded by the major d'Escadre D. Joseph Primo Rivera.

With respect to the expeditionary army it is still hoped that it will be composed of 18,000 men of all arms. It will be commanded by general count de l'Abisbal, appointed viceroy of Buenos Ayres. And who it is said, will preserve the government of Cadiz and Andalusia, at the head of which he is at this moment, until the departure of the expedition. It would be difficult to assign this epoch; there is no want of obstacles which retard the operations, and the least is not the penurious state of the finances.

ALEXANDER OF RUSSIA.

We find the following beautiful minature representation of the character of this truly illustrious Prince, in a private communication to the Editor of the London Courier, dated at Aix-la-Chapelle, Oct 31st—the features are still more striking when we compare the portrait which those of his contemporaries, which if drawn with fidelity would in too many instances present the most disgusting contrasts.—Whatever might have been the sentiment in ancient times, that of the present and future generations will not hesitate to rank Alexander of Russia, far above his Macedonian namesake, in point of greatness.

After noticing the arrival at Aix-la-Chapelle, of a number of royal personages, the letter proceeds:—

"The conferences for some days past have been languishing, owing to the absence of the Sovereigns, particularly of the Emperor Alexander, and the necessity under which their ministers felt themselves of consulting them, before they come to any final decision. The presence of the latter Sovereign, who is almost his own Minister, was found indispensable to their future progress. His servants cannot proceed a step without consulting him, and he probably wished to see France with his own eyes, and learn the state of parties from those best able to inform him, before he came to any determination regarding the pending negociations on the subject of the alliance. He arrived late this evening, therefore his Ministers had instructions to wait upon him immediately. You express a surprise, in speaking of the reviews, at the rapidity of his motions and the almost ubiquity of his presence; those who have more immediate access to him, who consult him on the affairs of office, and who thus become acquainted with his habits, are still more surprised at the unceasing activity of his mind, his unwearied application to the duties of his high station, and his amazing dispatch of business. He is not only his own prime Minister, and Minister for Foreign Affairs, but his own Minister of the Interior, of Police, and of Finance. The most trifling details, as well at the most important projects of negociations, are laid before him, and receive their due share of consideration. Pleasure or amusement are never allowed for a moment to interfere with the calls of duty or the exigencies of business. He gives orders to admit every one into his presence who has any petition to offer, or any useful plan to propose; and the rapidity with which he conceives its objects, or decides upon its merits, is equalled only by the spirit and willingness with which he enters on its examination. When Mr. Clarkson saw him in Paris, in 1814, on his return from England, and though he had only twenty-four hours to spend in that capital, he devoted two of them to an audience on the details of the slave trade question; and I know, from good authority, that amid the multiplicity of his business here, he had thoroughly read and considered Mr. Owen's memorial, and would have heard his explanations, had he seen any thing feasible in his plan, or even any thing not dangerous in his doctrines. He rises every morning at six o'clock, and often does not go to bed till two. When he finds that he cannot enjoy even this short period of regular repose, he refreshes himself by a short sleep of an hour, or ½ an hour, during the day, in his chair, as he can find opportunity, by a power which he has acquired of using any moment of leisure he chooses for such a refreshment—a power which, perhaps, shews his command over his time, and the general tranquility as well as activity of his mind. His morning devotions are never omitted, whatever other duties he has to perform—a habit which is common to him with the rest of his family; nor is he less attentive to the little forms and refined civilities of life than if they constituted its more serious employment. So punctual is he in this respect, that those who had no nearer views of his character would suppose that he comprised the whole business of a sovereign in doing popular things, and shewing refined attentions. The anecdote regarding his first visit to the Duke of Wellington, on coming here, you will not have forgotten. On the Sunday after his arrival he appeared in four changes of dress, in compliment to those whom he was to see: he transacted business in his usual habit in the morning; he waited afterwards on the King of Prussia in the uniform of the Prussian guards; he waited on the Emperor Francis, in that of Austria; and he was dressed again in a Prussian uniform, at the ball given by the city in the evening. The Liege papers celebrate some of the popular things which he did on his way to the review; and I have no doubt the French journals will echo their praises, by reciting similar acts of popularity in France.

This episode on the personal activity and popular manners of the Emperor Alexander may be thought at first sight minute and ill placed; but it will cease to appear so, when we reflect on the great influence which, joined with his military success, they have already had on the world, and consider how much the individual character of a Monarch under an absolute government moulds the conduct of his people, and controls the policy of his empire. On the views and policy of Alexander depends in a great degree, at present, the measures which shall be pursued towards France, and consequently the future stability of the European Confederation."

The same writer, under date of Novem 1, observes—

"There has been a great bustle among the diplomatic people this morning, owing to the return of the Emperor Alexander. His Imperial Majesty himself was the first to stir. He drove to the Duke of Wellington's at the early hour of nine o'clock, in full uniform, and remained with his Grace about an hour. The Emperor seems to consult the Duke of Wellington, and to negociate with him on all subjects, in preference to Lord Castlereagh, who is obliged to look for his friends among a different class of politicians."

Hopes are entertained in Vienna, that traces have been found which will lead to the recovery of several manuscripts, which were formerly sent from the East to Europe, by the unfortunate traveller Seezen, but which on their way, were turned aside from their true destination. [Lon. pap.

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1819.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON

Friday, February 12.

Mr. Williams, of North Carolina, moved that the committee on military affairs should be discharged from the further consideration of the resolution which he had proposed some time ago, respecting the reduction of the army, which was granted. He then informed the house that his motive for making that motion was, that he intended, on the next day, (this day) to propose to the house to instruct the said committee, (on military affairs) to prepare and bring in a bill to the same effect as that proposed by the aforesaid resolution, namely, to reduce the army, on which proposition the sense of the house could be ascertained. And while the house was engaged on the bank subject, the committee could be preparing the bill, should they be so instructed. It is, no doubt, desirable that the sense of congress should be speedily ascertained upon this point. But I apprehend that reducing the army, without reducing the extent of our territory also, will be thought rather inconvenient.

The discussion afforded by the appropriation bill in the committee of the whole, did not satisfy the orators, who would not let it pass without squeezing another day's talk out of it—so, yesterday the points which were supposed to be closed on Wednesday were ripped open again in the house with little other difference than the speaker's being in the chair, occasioned an amendment by Mr Taylor, and another by Mr. Johnson, which brought on a reiteration of the former argument.

A motion was finally made by Mr. Strother to postpone the appropriation bill indefinitely, which notwithstanding the utmost exertion of his superlative eloquence was negatived by 93 to 59. When will our representatives learn to set a due value upon political wisdom and eloquence.

THE DOUBLE COMPLIMENT OR THE COMPLIMENTER COMPLIMENTED.

It is stated in the American Watchman, that at the close of one of Mr. Lancaster's lectures, lately delivered from the Speaker's Chair in the Representatives chamber at Washington, "Mr. Clay (the Speaker) complimented him in handsome terms, observing that the Chair he occupied, had never been as well filled before. Mr. Lancaster modestly disclaiming the merit imputed to him by the Speaker, said in effect, that man in his purest aspect was but a very humble instrument of a Higher Power, and that the Chair he had just occupied, exalted as it was, had not been filled by any thing better than CLAY."

MUSKINGUM BANK.

The Cashier of this Bank, who lately absconded with $30,000, has been arrested, and brought back to Zanesville. The sum of $2000 only, has been found in his possession.

SHIP-WRECK.

The brig Lidia, Nichols, Master, of Plymouth, 117 days from Borddeaux, bound to Philadelphia, with a cargo of Brandy and Dry Goods, has made her appearance off these Islands in a state of great distress, having been blown off the coast, and greatly damaged by tempestuous weather. Her running rigging was all carried away, and her masts are down* Capt. Donkin, of the Betsey, from London, fell in with this vessel a short time before he made these Islands, and found the crew in a most wretched condition, being entirely out of provisions and water and having subsisted for 24 days upon prunes and wine. Capt. D supplied them with every thing necessary for their relief, and after keeping them company two days, made land. On board the Lydia were two passengers—Mr. Graham, and Don Manuel Medina.

* This vessel (observes our Correspondent under date of 18th Jan.) has since been wrecked, but the crew and part of her cargo have been saved—Eds Beacon.

Strother* their next friend plaintiff, against Hugh Wallace Wormeley, Thomas Strode, Richard Veitch, David Castleman and Charles McCormick, defendants, will be sold at public auction on the third day of February next, if fair, if not, the next fair day, on the premises, containing 300 acres, and also the reversion of fifty acres adjoining the same tract of 300 acres, lying and being in the county of Frederick and state of Virginia, situate on the north side of the Shenandoah river, and adjoining the said river about two miles below Snickers' ferry—one hundred acres of which is finely timbered, and the whole tract well watered with a never failing spring: the buildings are an excellent dwelling house, with other suitable outhouses, a good barn, corn house, blacksmith's shop, stable, &c. &c.

A Tract of Land

This land, I am told, has for the last seven years been highly improved with clover and plaster of Paris; upon the whole it is considered to be one among the best farms in the county, combining all the advantages of good society, salubrity of climate and fertility of soil. Terms of sale will be as follows: three thousand dollars in cash, or a negociable note with an endorser or endorsers to be approved of by the marshal of the said district, or his deputy who may act, and payable at one of the branches of the Farmers' bank of Virginia at Winchester, and the residue of the purchase money in three equal payments of one, two and three years; the purchaser or purchasers giving bonds and security or securities, to be approved of by the marshal or his deputy, with a deed of trust on the said land so sold, as a further security for the payments of the said bonds.

Gunston for Sale.

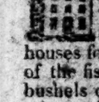

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq or

BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription,
A BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS
TO THE
Declaration of Independence,
ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES;

To which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.

TO THE PUBLIC.

IT seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been presented for American Biography, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to the Declaration of Independence have been overlooked or disregarded. The eyes of thousands have dwelt with rapture upon the document that announced to the world that "these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and independent states;" while we are better acquainted with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their signatures to that instrument. The founders of the only remaining republic on the globe, have, with a few splendid exceptions, gone to their graves, and it behoves a generous posterity, sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the payment of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are fugitive and evanescent; and if they are not snatched by the hand of the Biographic Muse, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will soon partake of the oblivion of the body.—It is not the object of the present attempt, to deal in that profusion of indiscriminate and unsparing panegyric, so often and so falsely dignified with the name of Biography: we wish to represent the characters as they were; they stand in need of no panegyric; and we earnestly solicit from the surviving relations and friends of those revolutionary patriots all the information that will tend to a developement of character. Man is the creature of circumstance, and we wish to show the progress of those patriots from their first resistance of colonial aggression, until they stood forth the noble and undaunted champions of their country's independence. All this can only be done by a familiar acquaintance with the lives of these men, and whoever of the surviving friends or relatives will furnish facts and circumstances in their possession to unfold and illustrate their characters, shall be entitled to a copy of the work as a recompense. It is contemplated, wherever it is practicable, further to embellish the meditated work with correct likenesses of the subjects of our biography, executed by the most eminent artists in the country. For this purpose we again solicit the assistance of their surviving relatives and friends. If they will transmit to the publisher any engraving or portrait from which a copy may be taken, the original shall be faithfully returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first motion that was made on the floor of congress until its final passage into a law, a period embracing much curious and secret history: finally, we promise to add to our last number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now compendiously stated the objects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our project, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little import to become acquainted with a man's hand writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to that instrument, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with fac-similes of the signatures, will bring into one compact view the prominent facts of that interesting crisis.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, and will be contained in ten numbers.

II. It will be printed on fine paper made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per half volume or number, payable on delivery.

☞Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Alexandria Gazette.
